Golden Tide

Freeze-Dried Wild Salmon Cubes

ALL AGES

Golden Tide is a single-ingredient, wild-caught salmon treat made for the Golden Retriever's skin and coat. Goldens are known for sensitive skin, and marine omega-3 fatty acids are some of the best-known nutrients for supporting healthy skin, a shiny coat and joint comfort. Golden Tide is freeze-dried rather than heat-processed, which keeps more of those fragile omega-3s intact. One ingredient, the way nature made it, for the breed that deserves nothing less.

WHY WILD SALMON, AND WHY IT MATTERS FOR GOLDENS

Component	Why It Matters for Goldens
Omega-3 Fatty Acids (EPA & DHA)	The marine omega-3s in salmon are some of the best-known nutrients for canine skin and coat. EPA and DHA support healthy skin, a shiny coat and joint comfort, a natural fit for a skin-sensitive breed.
Wild-Caught Salmon (Novel Protein)	Salmon is a less common protein in dog food, which makes it a good option for Goldens who do better without chicken or beef. Ask your vet if your Golden has food sensitivities.
Natural Salmon Oils	The naturally occurring oils in whole salmon help maintain the skin's natural moisture barrier, supporting healthy skin and a resilient coat.
High-Quality Protein & Amino Acids	Salmon is a complete protein rich in the essential amino acids that support lean muscle and overall condition, delivered with naturally lean, clean nutrition.
Freeze-Dried, Not Heat-Processed	Freeze-drying removes only water, keeping the omega-3s and nutrition far better than baking or high-heat cooking, which can break down these fragile fatty acids. What's on the label is what reaches your Golden.
Joint & Heart Support	Beyond skin, omega-3s support joint comfort and normal heart function, a good fit for a breed that stays active as it gets older.
Single Ingredient, Lightweight Cubes	One ingredient means total transparency for a sensitive breed. The airy cubes can be fed whole as a treat or crumbled over food as a topper, and break easily for training rewards.
